Aperitivo klubben

Dear friends or friends to be,

We hope that the holiday season has been nice and relaxing and you are back in business, loaded with energy and enthusiasm. The extended group at the last aperitivo with Danes, Finns, Norwegians and Swedes has been extremely successful... and we will soon be joined by the Icelandic community. The next aperitivo is planned for March 5th at Garden Gallery, as usual (Via Meravigli, 3 – MM Cordusio) from 18:45 onwards. Please confirm your attendance by e-mail to info@aperitivoklubben.com prior to the 24th February.

We are happy to announce that the next event will be sponsored by Scandinavian Airlines, The cure of homesickness! We hope to see you again in March.

Welcome!

Best regards,

A short background to those of your who receive this invitation for the first time:

To establish a meeting place for young-minded professionals in the greater Milan area, being Swedish or working for Swedish companies, an aperitivo was organized in June, last year. Building and maintaining a professional and private network is time consuming and usually hard to fit in to the otherwise busy today's time schedule. Through these semi-regular gatherings, we can relax, build relations and benefit from our professional and personal backgrounds. During autumn 2002, invitations for aperitivo have been extended to all Nordic natives.

Scandinavian Airlines flies daily to Scandinavia, Finland, the Baltic Area, Poland and Russia from Milan (non stop flights to Copenhagen and Stockholm) Rome (non stop flights to Copenhagen, Oslo and Stockholm) and Bologna (non stop flights to Copenhagen and Stockholm). Immediate connections to all Northern and intercontinental destinations served by SAS Group are available from major hubs. Fly Home Club is the "ad hoc" SAS product for the Northern community living in Italy.

Special fares for members are available all year long as well as SAS FlyOnLine, the best, dedicated fares on sale at www.scandinavian.net.

Joining Fly Home Club is free. Ask SAS for the enrollment form and you'll be automatically registered and eligible for the best travel solutions to Northern Europe. Don't miss the opportunity to reach home whenever you desire.
